Instagram collaborative posts

Improved privacy in Instagram direct messages

Bibliography:

If you have any questions, suggestions, or comments, don't hesitate to let me know in this email.

P.S.: Remember that this newsletter is also yours! If you have any questions, suggestions, or Anyways, Metricooler, what a week of news… let's keep the party going!

I'm still thinking about Twitter's live videos. Because if Kick, whose draw-in has been a 95% to steamers, and 5% to the platform, but still hasn't been a smashing hit…

As you can see in the tweet from user Alex193a

Elon Musk aims to bring lives back to Twitter

More privacy in direct messaging

New ways to collaborate on Instagram

YouTube gives the 'For You' app

X prepares a new feature for the feed

More privacy in direct messaging

"If a user tries to add something to your post, you can either accept or deny it. As creator of the original post, you can activate the option to add photos or videos.

Until now?

In fact, on March 31, 2021, Twitter announced the end of Periscope. This was an experiment that had everything to succeed, but ended up being passed up by Twitter. Only the seasoned veterans on the site will remember Periscope. But as X enters the market, we will see how it goes…

More privacy in direct messaging

In October 2020, @Metricool announced the end of Message requests on Instagram. This invitation can include a maximum of one

More privacy in direct messaging

Since the launch of the platform, the goal has been to become an app for everything and anything. X aims to bring live video streaming to the platform, as we already mentioned in this newsletter. When Elon Musk himself started a live

More privacy in direct messaging

Elon Musk aims to bring lives back to Twitter

More privacy in direct messaging

Last Friday, August 4, the news broke that

More privacy in direct messaging

The main page of YouTube's 'For You' feed is already well-established, considering they started it. But now, another social network has also included it. The For You feed has arrived to YouTube.

More privacy in direct messaging

As you might have imagined, this feed is a mix of recommended videos based on content you've already watched. This is already how

More privacy in direct messaging

The For You page is basically a personalized newsfeed. On YouTube, this page is also known as the 'Recommended' page. The main difference with YouTube's 'For You' page compared to other networks is that it

More privacy in direct messaging

And now, one of the missing ones has it…

More privacy in direct messaging

The news broke last Friday, August 4, that

More privacy in direct messaging

Well, many not that interesting, but personally I think it will add and not take away

More privacy in direct messaging

The contributors' username will only appear on the images or videos that they

More privacy in direct messaging

The multimedia content will only be visible in the original post. If a user tries to add something to your post, you can either accept or deny it.

More privacy in direct messaging

As creator of the original post, you can activate the option to add photos or videos.

More privacy in direct messaging

As you can see in the tweet from user Alex193a