For this great news, that's why the headline had to be: TikTok, we love you. Let's face it. Everyone reuses TikTok videos for other platforms after using programs to incentivize creators to upload content, work on it and of course, spend time on it. Bonus…)

They continue to add programs (Creator Fund, TikTok Creator Marketplace, TikTok benefits for creators…) differentiating itself, by a long shot, from the other social networks in terms of benefits for creators. For me, if I am interpreting correctly (good dedication, Sherlock): the goal is to reward the application.

This is yet another feature on the app to have stars that shine alone. Let's face it, some have more of a creative eye for TikTok, and although we all know it's also Liverpool's anthem). You'll never walk alone.
